Auburn — A Place of People & Ideas...

Alumni Give $217,819 To Support Auburn

More than 4,500 Auburn alumni and friends supported the 1970 Auburn Annual Giving (AAG) program by contributing $217,819 in support of Auburn's academic programs. The most significant increase in the 1970 AAG came in number of contributors who made the Century Club (donors of more than $100) which grew from 466 in 1969 to 769 in 1970.

AAG, Auburn University's annual program for the support of academic excellence, began in 1965 with 2,900 charter contributors and has progressed steadily in the number of alumni and friends who have given financial support to Auburn.

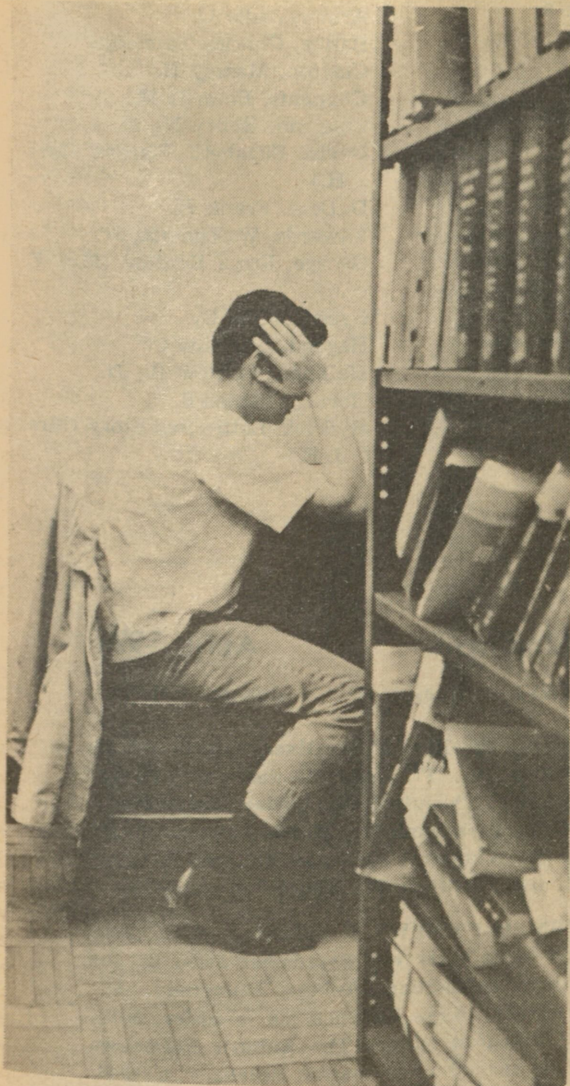

Alumni have a key role in helping Auburn advance and a yearly gift to support the academic programs is the simplest way for alumni to show their support of their alma mater. Many alumni choose to designate their yearly gifts—to the library, or to a department. However, in the past years the majority of gifts have gone for Auburn's most crucial need: keeping and attracting quality faculty.

Twenty-five members of the Auburn faculty have served as Alumni Professors (including an Alumni Artist-in-Residence, an Alumni-Writer-in-Residence, and an Alumni Research Professor) since the program began and 21 are active now. In 1970 the first new faculty were given Alumni Professorships when Dr. Eugene Griessman became Alumni Professor and head of the Sociology Department and Prof. John Hulon Bryant became Alumni Professor of Architecture.

Also during 1970, many alumni and friends designated their gifts to the School of Veterinary Medicine which is now in a $500,000 campaign for equipment to furnish the new buildings of the veterinary campus on Wire Road.

In the 1971 Auburn Annual Giving program now underway, alumni and friends also will be supporting student loan funds. In the past three years, Federal loan funds for Auburn students have decreased annually and seem likely to further decrease to a level far below the amount needed to provide loans so that Auburn students can complete their education. Beginning this year a portion of the Auburn Annual Giving funds will provide loans for students to pay college expenses.

Also in the new year, AAG will honor its loyal supporters by a distinctive listing. Those supporters who give more than $1,000 will be members of the elite President's Club. Those whose gifts are from $500 to $999 will belong to the Dean's Club. The Century Club distinction will remain for those giving $100 to $499. The members of the Loyalty Club will be made up of donors of $50 to $99. Alumni and friends whose gifts are from $25 to $49 will belong to the Sponsor Club while those below $25 will be Contributors.
